

Discovering the Power of Natural Remedies

YOUR PATH TO WELLNESS +
3 NATURAL REMEDIES TO GET YOU STARTED

STEPHANIE VADAKIN

Introduction

Hi! If you don't know who I am, my name is Stephanie and I have spent years researching how to live a more holistic and balanced life.

I lost my mom to a quick and vicious battle with colon cancer back in 2010 and that event forever changed me. I did not grow up with any real knowledge of what it meant to be healthy and I desperately sought after the answer for years.

My mother was a chronic yo-yo dieter, never happy with her body, and that played a direct role in my approach towards "health" which was really just a never-ending destructive path towards a better appearance.

I struggled with eating disorders and severe anxiety around food. I was so incredibly unhealthy and I got sick often, despite eating all the diet foods and exercising like a fiend. Surprise, surprise, that's not what it means to be healthy.

It wasn't until I became a mother, myself, that I knew I needed to make some real changes.

When I started to become aware of how many toxins were present in our food, our personal care products, and our medicine, I started doing some real research. Once I started implementing these new ways, my physical and mental health really started to change for the better.

While I have no solid proof, I can't help but feel like this knowledge would have helped my mom live longer. Now that I have my own kids, I will do whatever I can in this life to give me and my family the best shot possible at long healthy lives.

After years of research, trial, and error, I now want to share this knowledge with you to help cut back on the time and stress you have to put into it.

My mission is to help you decrease your toxin exposure by giving you alternatives to standard medicine, personal care products, household products, food, and more, all while keeping YOUR lifestyle, priorities, and budget in mind.

We have to address all of it. Maybe not all at once but it all works together. If we can address one thing at a time, that's still making progress and still increasing our quality of life.

DISCLAIMER: I am NOT a doctor and this book is not offering medical advice. If your ailments go beyond what natural remedies can offer, please consult your doctor.

Why Holistic?

In our quest for well-being, holistic remedies offer a comprehensive approach to treating sickness by focusing on how important the connection between our mind, body, and spirit is. These remedies, drawn from ancient traditions and natural sources, seek to address the root causes of illnesses, rather than simply treating the symptoms.

One fundamental principle of holistic remedies is that our bodies possess remarkable self-healing abilities. By nourishing our bodies with whole foods, embracing mindful practices, reducing our toxic burden, and using natural remedies, we aim to support this inherent healing power.

Holistic remedies also encourage a lifestyle that minimizes exposure to toxins, from using natural cleaning products to choosing organic foods. Embracing nature's offerings, we find nourishment and remedies that resonate with our bodies, often reducing the reliance on synthetic medications.

While modern medicine plays a crucial role in emergent situations, integrating holistic remedies into our wellness routine can complement traditional treatments, fostering a more comprehensive approach to healing. The true essence of holistic healing lies in nurturing the whole self, encouraging a balance that promotes not just physical health, but also mental and emotional well-being.

By exploring these holistic remedies, we embark on a journey toward a more vibrant, harmonious, and healthier existence, acknowledging the profound connection between our bodies, minds, and the world around us.

In the following pages, I will be giving three simple natural remedies to help get your family through the cold season without needing to subject yourselves to all the junk in unnecessary pharmaceuticals.

Basic Supplies

There are SO many ingredients that you could use when putting together natural remedies - I get into that more in my in-depth guide that's filled with over 30 natural remedy recipes. For the purposes of this book, I'll give you some of the basics that will take you a long way!

- Oils: You'll want to have coconut oil and olive oil on hand and available to you.
- Raw Honey: NOT to be substituted with regular honey, as regular honey goes through a process that depletes it of its natural nutrients and healing properties. Manuka honey can also be used, though it's pricier.
- Essential Oils: While there are a ton of amazing essential oils, each with its own unique set of healing properties, there are a few basics that will go a long way. Some great versatile starters are lavender, lemon, tea tree, rosemary, peppermint, and eucalyptus.
- Fresh Herbs: This is, obviously, something that will be bought more as needed, since they only stay fresh for so long. If you have a green thumb and feel so inclined, you could also grow your own herbs!

3 Simple Remedies to Fight off Cold Season

Elderberry Syrup

Ingredients:

4 cups filtered water

$\frac{3}{4}$ cup dry or 1.5 cup fresh/frozen elderberry

1 lemon, sliced

1 tsp each ceylon cinnamon, cloves, ginger, and thyme

1 tbsp mullein

$\frac{1}{2}$ -1 cup raw honey

Instructions:

1. Add all ingredients, except for honey, into a medium saucepan and stir well to combine.
2. Bring to a low boil over medium heat.
3. Immediately reduce the heat to a simmer, cover, and allow to simmer for 45 minutes.
4. After 45 minutes, remove from heat and strain.
5. Allow to cool for about 30 minutes before adding the honey.
6. Store in an airtight container. Will keep in the fridge for around 3-4 months.

Dosage:

Children: 1 tsp/day

Adults: 1 tbsp/day

Increase to every 3-4 hours at onset of symptoms

Homemade “Vicks” Rub

Ingredients (kids version):

2 tbsp coconut oil

4 drops tea tree essential oil

2 drops each lavender, thyme, lemon, and frankincense

Ingredients (adult version):

2 tbsp coconut oil

4 drops eucalyptus essential oil

2 drops each peppermint, tea tree, rosemary, and lavender

Instructions:

1. Heat coconut oil over low heat, just until melted, and then remove from heat immediately.
2. Allow mixture to cool for about 5 minute before adding in essential oils. We want the coconut oil to remain liquid but we don't want it to be so hot that it ruins the healing properties of the oils.
3. Pour mixture Into a small airtight glass container and allow to harden. Store In dark dry place for up to a year.

Dosage:

Just as you would with regular Vicks, simply apply to chest, throat, and bottoms of feet, when needed, particularly before bedtime.

Fermented Garlic Honey

(Immune Booster)

Ingredients:

2-3 heads of garlic

1 cup raw honey

Squeeze of lemon juice

Instructions:

1. Peel the garlic and place the cloves in a mason jar, along with the squeeze of lemon.
2. Pour the honey over the garlic cloves, being sure to cover all of the garlic, adjusting the amount if needed.
3. Place a lid on your jar and move the jar around a bit to ensure the honey coats every surface.
4. Store in a cool, dry, dark place for a month to allow the garlic to ferment.
5. Every few days, you'll need to roll the jar around to ensure good coverage.
6. Every week, slightly open the lid and then close it again to allow some of the buildup out.

Dosage:

When you begin to feel a cold coming on, eat a clove or two and continue to do so every day, until symptoms have resolved.

Alternatively, eat about a tablespoon of the honey.

Do You Want More?

This guide is the beginning of something great for you and your family. Even just having one recipe to rely on is powerful.

If you'd like a more comprehensive resource to consistently rely on that takes the guesswork out for you and helps you feel confident and prepared to treat illness in your home naturally without always having to do hours of scouring the Internet, I do have my larger Natural Remedy Guide that you can refer to for more natural remedy recipes, homeopathy options, general tips and guidelines, and even natural drugstore options when you're really in a pinch. This book covers everything from fever and menstrual cramps to anxiety and pink eye.

For more low tox holistic content, recipes, and updates, be sure to follow me on Tiktok and Instagram, and join my mailing list!

